FOREWORD

Volume II of CableFile/83 is the result of an extensive research project begun in the spring of '82 and completed in mid-September of that year. The volume presents a detailed and comprehensive picture of the nation's multiple cable system operators and of individual cable systems and operators.

CableFile/83 profiles 5642 cable systems serving 12,411 communities. Two-hundred-sixty-seven MSO's are ranked by subscriber count. Each MSO is highlighted in the MSO section.

Information for Volume II was collected by an initial mailing to all cable systems and MSOs listed in the '82 edition. Additional cable systems were discovered by calling state association lists, Copyright Office filings, new franchise grants, and by contacting town halls, Chambers of Commerce and directory assistance.

Every cable system and MSO was contacted by mail and/or telephone to ensure current and accurate information.

During 1983, CableFile's research staff will be conducting quarterly updates of the system profile. In addition, the staff will be developing more specialized information packages as the cable industry's need for this information expands.

MULTIPLE SYSTEM OPERATORS

The Cable System Owners section provides a comprehensive look at MSOs operating in the United States. For the 1983 edition we have modified the section to list the operating systems by system name, headend, and communities served. When available, we have listed non-operating systems followed in parentheses by the potential number of homes to be passed.

Of particular use in the MSO section is the statistical information appearing at the end of each MSO listing. Where the information has been available, we have listed the number of operating systems, total basic subscribers, total pay subscribers (pay units), total homes passed (currently), and total homes in unbuilt franchise areas (potential homes to be passed).

Note: Headend communities appear in italics. Any communities located in a state separate from the MSO main office will be accompanied with the appropriate state code.

SYSTEM PROFILE LEGEND

An extensive research effort this year offers a substantially expanded and updated System Profile for CableFile/83. Each of the nation's systems are profiled; listed by state, and within each state alphabetically by headend community. Ninety-two percent of systems contacted have supplied us with information as of June 1982 or later.

In addition to improving upon last year's system profile, this year's staff explored the areas of rebuild, advertising, public access, local origination, and equipment suppliers. This information may be easily accessed in a variety of formats by purchasing reports from our frequently updated CableFile Data Base.

For your convenience CableFile/83 offers, as an introduction to each state, a summarization of the total number of systems, number of communities served, homes passed, pay units and basic subscribers.

We also provide a complete listing of all pertinent information about each cable system, including the local manager, number of subscribers, plant miles, basic, pay and regional cable rates and the name of the basic, pay and regional program suppliers. In cases where we were unable to obtain all the information, we have listed the information that was available.

We have incorported into the system profile the HBO, Showtime, Cinemax and The Movie Channel logos which appear above the listings of systems that offer these pay services to their respective subscribers. (These are paid advertisements.)

Below is a legend explaining all the possible entries for any given cable television system.

Introducing cable markets where you never had them before.

Tune in to exciting growth markets and untapped profits when you discover the newest segment of the cable industry—satellite-delivered full stereo and enhanced quality cable TV audio.

The Wegener Series 1600 Expandable Satellite Audio System makes it all possible—satellite audio, synthesized TV stereo, and local origination FM. For a lot less than you think.

Its modular design gives you the flexibility of adding individual satellite audio services economically. So as the market for cable audio continues to grow, you'll be able to grow right along with it.

Call or write for complete information on how you can start or expand your audio services. Give your subscribers a new dimension in cable entertainment. The stereo sound of the future is happening now—only on cable.

Until now, incomplete or obsolete information has often left marketing analysis and problem solving to conjecture. That's no longer the case. The CABLEFILE DATA BASE contains more answers to your sales and marketing questions than any other industry source. Every major section of CABLEFILE/83 is on computer and available in a variety of sorts and formats.

SECTION:
- — System Profile
- — MSO's
- — Suppliers & Services
- — Catalog

SORTS:
— Every piece of information in each major section of CableFile is filed in separate fields. Computer sorts can be tailored to your specific requirements.

FORMAT:
- — Mailing labels
- — Printouts
